Russian Forces Are Closing In Around Zhlobin

Capture Of Rail Center May Entrap Large Force Of German Troops

RUSSIANS ADVANCE AT MANY POINTS
By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—The Russian army today was reported racing across the last ten-mile stretch to Zhlobin, vital German-held rail center whose capture may mean the entrapment of huge masses of Nazi troops.

The columns thrusting toward Zhlobin are one of the jaws of a huge Soviet pincer movement designed to snap shut and trap as many as possible of the 20 Nazi divisions in the Gomel battle area.

The British radio, heard by CBS, said that three other important rail towns also are within Russian artillery range. These were identified as Mowr, and Kalinkovich, southwest of Gomel, and Rogachev, northwest of Gomel.

Rear Guard Mopped Up
(The London radio also reported that rear guards of the fleeing German army are being mopped up in white Russia while "a little further south the Russians have almost cleared the enemy out of the triangle between two railways fanning out from Gomel and the Dnieper." One report said Zhlobin junction is choked with a "confused mass of rolling stock.")

Russian forces converging on the vital rail crossing formed by the Leningrad-Odessa and Gomel-Minsk lines were revealed yesterday to have captured more than 40 towns and villages northwest of Gomel. Forcing the Beresina river, which empties into the Dnieper below Gomel, the Soviet troops pressed to Streshin, a scant 11 miles south of Zhlobin.

Only in the area west of the Ukrainian capital of Kiev were the

PA NEW C OBSERVES

Dr. C. M. Booher, Wilmington avenue, shot a six-point buck yesterday near Smethport, it is reported.

Today was annual turkey dinner day at the senior high school cafeteria.

Frank Moorehead of Harlansburg returned home last night with an eight-point buck shot near Smethport. The buck has an exceptionally large rack, according to reports.

A combination of smoke and frost, coupled with an overcast sky, caused daylight to come much later than usual this morning, but the days are growing much shorter, and daylight does not come until around 8 o'clock now. The shortest day of the year is only three weeks away now.

Christmas mailing to folks in this country is being stepped up, it is noticed at the post office. Yesterday afternoon, three clerks were being kept busy sorting parcels to loved ones and friends. The deadline for safe mailing to the Pacific coast is only one week away. Postmaster Hanna warns.

Smog that could almost have been cut with a knife hung over the city this morning. A planned smoke barrage could hardly have done better than the clouds of black smoke, grey smoke, and sulphurous yellow that the chimneys were putting out.

There is a large amount of home building activity to be seen in various sections of the North Hill these days. Many homes are in the course of construction as the building program is being rushed. One week from today will be the second anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack upon Pearl Harbor.

Hero Of PT Boat Battles Is Home

Gunner's Mate Ted Kuharski Of Squadron X Saw
Thrilling Action
Against Japs

ARRIVES TOO LATE TO SEE HIS FATHER

When the history of this great war is written, it will be found that New Castle will have its full share of heroes, young men whose daring exploits and devotion to duty were outstanding. And they can be found in all branches of the service, land, sea and air.

One of these young men, a hero of the gallant battles waged against the Jap navy in the early days of the Solomon Islands conflict, who hales from this city is now home on furlough. He is Gunner's Mate First Class Ted Kuharski, of 33 Elmwood street, one of the men who served aboard one of the PT boats in the Pacific. This entire squadron was decorated by President Roosevelt for their outstanding work in the face of great odds.

Sad Homecoming
Gunner's Mate Kuharski's homecoming, however, is tinged with sadness, for he arrived home on furlough just a few weeks too late to see his father, Stanley Kuharski, who passed away on October 28.

Young Kuharski had a hitch in the navy before the war broke out.

Barrage Balloons Appear In Sweden

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Trains were held up and short circuits were caused in three Swedish provinces when about 80 barrage balloons drifted over the country yesterday. "From the direction of the Baltic," the Swedish domestic radio disclosed in a broadcast reported today by the U. S. Broadcast Intelligence Service.

Short circuits were caused in Uppland, Soedermanland and Gotland, according to the broadcast, which said that all of southern Gotland was without electricity yesterday afternoon. The broadcast said the balloons had delayed trains up to one hour.

Some 20 of the balloons drifted in over the Stockholm archipelago, with about 50 of the entire 80 balloons being salvaged up to 6 o'clock last night, it was reported. "Military authorities cannot yet state where the balloons came from," the broadcast said.

Says Women May Be Combat Fliers

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—If the war lasts two years more, women may be used as combat pilots.

This was the opinion expressed today by Senora Anesia P. Machado, top-ranking Brazilian woman flyer, who is taking an advanced course in instrument flying at LaGuardia Field.

"If Russian women can do it, so can others," she asserted. "A woman can do anything a man flyer can do."

Senora Machado is the wife of Acting Brig. Gen. Antonio A. Melo of the Brazilian Air Force.

U. S. Planes Are Now Operating From Gilberts

Captured Enemy Airfield Is Already In Service Of
U. S. Fliers

KNOX SAYS SHIP LOSSES WERE SMALL
By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today that American planes already are operating against the Japs from the captured enemy airfield on Betio, in the Gilbert Islands.

At the same time Knox, at his news conference, said that American ship losses in the Gilbert operation were "light."

The Secretary disclosed that Navy Seabees' construction battalions followed the first waves of invading troops into Betio and within four days after the invasion had the airstrip in operation.

All Ship Losses Replaced
Knox also revealed that on Thanksgiving day American and Allied shipyards had replaced all the merchant vessel tonnage lost by the United Nations since the beginning of the European phase of the war in September, 1939.

He paid tribute to Rear Admirals Emory S. Land and Howard Vickers of the Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration for the remarkable way in which they turned out merchant ships.

"They turned out ships faster than anyone ever dreamed was possible," Knox commented.

In discussing the feat accomplished by the Seabees in the Gilberts, the Secretary disclosed that last month this Navy organization reached its authorized strength of 250,000 enlisted men and 7,100 officers.

Heavy Losses Certain
He said that out of this total, 130,000 enlisted men and 3,000 officers were serving overseas and he added that the men ranged in age from 17 to 50 years.

Discussing the Gilbert operations Knox emphasized the fact that the United States must be prepared for heavy losses in personnel.

In response to a question Knox denied that the unusually heavy

German Radio Busy Spreading Reports About 'Big Three'

Many Conjectures Being Broadcast About Possible Allied Conferences

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—The German radio and other Axis-controlled sources of propaganda today flooded the air waves and the press of neutral countries with a welter of conjectural reports concerning a meeting of the allied "big three."

The Nazi-controlled Vichy radio, citing "neutral reports" as the alleged source of its dispatch—said that President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill already have arrived in Cairo, and that Premier Joseph Stalin is in Tehran enroute to the Egyptian capital.

The German overseas agency said that Laurence Steinhardt, American ambassador to Turkey, "left Ankara the early part of the week for an unknown destination, traveling eastward." Presumably this was an effort to indicate that Steinhardt was going to Tehran to meet Stalin.

Vichy Radio Inaccurate

The Vichy broadcast said the meeting of the "big three" will take place within a few days, either in Cairo or Alexandria.

British quarters pointed out that the Vichy radio is notorious for its inaccuracy, and declared that if a meeting of the "big three" actually is afoot, Vichy may be wrong about the time and place, or both.

The German radio added that Edouard Benes, president of the emigre Czechoslovakian government in London, also is taking part in the meeting "at Stalin's express wish."

And the Berne correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Allehanda—quoting German sources—said that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek likewise is supposed to be there.

From official quarters in London there was no comment on the mass of Axis-inspired dispatches.

Huge American Raid Again Made On Bremen Base

Flying Fortresses And Fighters In Stiff Battle
Over Germany

R. A. F. PLANES KEEP UP NIGHT ATTACKS
BULLETIN
(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Giant four-motored American heavy bombers, blasting at the Reich for the second time in 24 hours, raided objectives in western Germany today amid indications that other allied formations were pounding Axis satellites in the Balkans.

The huge raiders which lashed out at unspecified targets in the western reaches of Nazi Germany were accompanied by a dense screen of allied fighters which included warplanes of the United States, Great Britain and the British dominions.

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Royal Air Force's speedy Mosquito bombers in night-long sorties again raided military targets in western Germany, the air ministry announced this morning.

British intruder planes attacked enemy airfields in France and Holland.

All the British planes returned safely, the air ministry said.

Massive U. S. Raids

The all-night British attacks came on the heels of Monday's massive American daylight thrust against the Nazi naval and U-boat base at Bremen.

The American flying fortresses, escorted all the way to Bremen by long-range Lightning and Thunderbolt fighters, met exceedingly stiff enemy Luftwaffe opposition, many of the Nazi interceptors being equipped.

Aerial Assaults In South Pacific

Increased Bombing Attacks On Japs Reported By
Gen. MacArthur

HUGE QUANTITIES OF BOMBS DROPPED
By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 30.—Increased and uninterrupted aerial bombing of Japanese positions in the South and Southwest Pacific were reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. More than 240 tons of high explosives were rained down on Japanese installations during the past 24 hours, MacArthur's communications stated.

Wewak and Borom airbases, in New Guinea, were allowed no respite as heavy four-engine bombers continued their attack on these two strategic enemy positions. "Terrible explosions and large fires" were caused on the two airfields by 94 tons of well-placed bombs, Gen. MacArthur said.

At Bonga, on the Huon peninsula north of Finschhafen, Mitchell mediums plastered the Japs with 44 tons of bombs, concentrating on targets along the Wareo trail near Guakaka above newly-captured Sattelberg.

Slash At Japs

Admiral William F. Halsey's heavy, medium, torpedo and dive bombers of the South Pacific command slashed at Jap objectives in the Northern Solomons.

Buka airbase received 34 tons of bombs dropped by medium bombers, and heavy bombers struck nearby Bonis.

Simultaneously torpedo and dive bombers, followed later by mediums, plastered enemy positions in Empress Augusta bay with 68 tons of explosives, causing heavy damage.

Gen. MacArthur revealed that the precise enemy installations which were hit in Empress Augusta bay were at Mosigetta, Mawaraka and Mutupina.

Allied patrol bombers maintained continuous harassment of Jap shipping north of Rabaul where one enemy destroyer was "probably damaged" in an attack by Allied night reconnaissance squadrons which attacked ships northeast of Talasea.

One Allied fighter patrol sank two enemy barges off Madang.

BERLIN STATIONS OFF

Believe Chinese Have Again Saved 'Rice Bowl'

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGIE
Written Especially For International News Service

Apparently the Chinese have again saved their "rice bowl" of human province by defeating the Japanese invasion columns in the vicinity of Changteh. This is of the greatest importance, because that fertile area supplies a large portion of the food that enables Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's patriot armies to keep the field.

Without China as an ultimate base of operations the final defeat of Japan would be difficult indeed, as Admiral Chester W. Nimitz emphasized in a recent interview. Yet China has repeatedly been in grave danger of a knock-out and is now in a situation that is becoming constantly more critical.

China has been cut off from supplies from the outside world, except for the small amount that can be flown in by airplane, for more than a year. Her situation was not good before that, as patriot China was never able to manufacture anything like the amount of munitions and supplies needed to keep her armies equipped. But considerable quantities reached her via the

Leading German Cities May Vanish Unless Nazis Quit

Diplomatic Circles Believe
Warning To This Effect
Given Germans

LAND INVASION DELAY IS LIKELY
By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Strong diplomatic belief prevailed in Washington today that Germany's leading cities may be literally wiped off the face of the map within the next four months unless the German nation surrenders in the meantime.

The possibility is seen that a joint warning to this effect may soon be delivered to the German people by President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin.

Foresee Program
Anglo-American grand strategy plans are now believed to call for the almost total destruction of leading German cities by Allied air forces.

The cities marked for doom are seen likely to include Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen, Wilhelmshaven, Frankfurt, Mannheim, Stuttgart, Munich, Nurnberg, Hannover and Kiel.

If this greatest aerial offensive the world has ever witnessed fails to bring Germany to her knees by spring, the diplomatic observers believe the United States, Great Britain and Russia will then launch a synchronized all-out land, sea and air attack on three major European fronts to smash completely German military might.

Much Speculation
Doubt still prevails in diplomatic circles that the Anglo-American armies will attempt the full-scale invasion of Western Europe before spring, unless Germany should collapse beforehand.

There is, however, a good deal of diplomatic speculation as to whether Germany can "take" the aerial

Report President And Churchill To Meet Stalin Soon

Reuter Dispatch Says Roosevelt, Churchill And China President Had Conference

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Lisbon today said it was "known definitely" there that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill had completed a lengthy conference at Cairo "and are now enroute to somewhere in Persia to meet Joseph Stalin."

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek took part in the conference and also will meet Stalin, the Reuter dispatch said.

Generalissimo Chiang was accompanied by Minister of War Chiang Kai-shek to the Reuter message.

The three conferees, the dispatch said, met at one time in a tent in the shadows of the pyramids.

The president and Chiang Kai-shek travelled to Cairo by air, according to Reuter, while Churchill made the trip by sea.

During the course of the conference, Cairo was cut off from communication with the rest of the world, the Reuter message concluded.

British Breach Main Winter Line Of Nazis In Italy

Eighth Army's Attack Endangers Whole Nazi Defense On Adriatic

BEING CONTINUED
By GRAHAM HOVEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Nov. 30.—Nazi Germany's main winter line in central Italy was breached by troops of the veteran British Eighth Army today and the whole enemy defense position on the Adriatic endangered.

In swift capitalization of sudden gains scored yesterday, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces smashed forward from positions on high ground north of the Sangro river, enlarged their new bridgehead from one to 12 miles in width and four miles in depth.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced that the Eighth Army forces, comprised of British, New Zealand, Canadian and Indian troops, are still continuing to advance.

Artillery Exchanges
On the western end of the line, Anglo-American forces of the Fifth Army under Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark also smashed forward, but in this sector, artillery exchanges mounting in intensity were the main features of the battle.

Gen. Montgomery's men concentrated on clearing a five-mile long ridge near the coast, seizing Muzzagro, one of its anchors, while the Fifth Army occupied Castellone after bitter fighting on the Folcorno ridge, west and northwest of Montemurlo.

The Fifth Army forces scored their one mile gain in the face of heaviest enemy artillery fire.

Sailors' Union May Call Strike

Tieup Threatens For West Coast Shipping As Result Of Dispute

MINE SITUATION
STILL IN TURMOIL
By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A threatened tieup of west coast shipping hauling vital war supplies was added to the growing list of labor controversies today, with the coal and railroad industries already beset with long-standing disputes.

There was a distinct possibility of a strike among 40,000 members of the AFL sailors' union of the Pacific and the seaman's international union in protest against an order requiring medical examination for crews on War Shipping Administration vessels.

Harry Lundenberg, official of both unions, described the order as an attempt to "eliminate old-time seamen from the industry" and said his organizations "will absolutely and definitely not cooperate."

Will Sail Ships
From Capt. Edward MacAuley, deputy WSA chief, came the reply that WSA "will sail the ships, if we have to get protection of the army and navy" and use non-union men. He said WSA had done it before.

At the same time, the senate interstate commerce committee was scheduled to act on a resolution approving an eight-cent hourly pay increase for one million 100 thousand non-operating railroad workers who have just completed a strike ballot in support of their demands.

Leaders of the 15 non-operating unions will assemble in Washington tomorrow and Thursday to study results of the ballot, previously said to be running nearly 100 per cent in favor of a walkout. The eight-cent wage boost has been twice rejected by the government.

Innovation Possible

And on the coal front appeared the innovation of a possible "strike" by mine owners against an average 17 cents-per ton price increase awarded by OPA on soft coal to cover the recent $1.50 a day pay boost for 460,000 miners. Operators have sought 40 to 50 cents a ton.

The increase in bituminous coal price range from 10 to 50 cents a net ton in 17 of the 22 soft coal districts. In the five other districts, no general increases are provided, but boosts of 20 to 25 cents a ton are granted for hand-loading underground mines. For the major producing districts, the increases go up to 30 cents a ton.

Although the mines nominally are under government control, the owners actually have remained at the helm and used their own funds to finance operations. Now, however, the threat arises that they will refuse to continue operations and demand that the government take full charge and assume any losses.

FEARS PRICE CONTROL SYSTEM MAY FAIL

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Complete collapse of the price control system, unless farmers are permitted a higher return for their products was predicted today by Albert S. Goss, master of the national grange.

"There will be a greatly shortened food supply, a widened black market and complete collapse of the price control system unless farmers are allowed by the government to produce at a fair profit," Goss told a meeting of the interstate milk producers cooperative in Philadelphia.

Goss termed government subsidies "inflationary" and said they did not increase production but served to increase the total amount of purchasing power because they were based on bank credits.

BELIEVE CHINESE HAVE AGAIN SAVED 'RICE BOWL'

Burma road until the spring of 1942. Then, when the Japanese took Burma, that slim avenue of supply was cut.

Seek To Aid Chinese
In response to urgent appeals from the Chinese government, President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill, at their Quebec conference in August, appointed Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten to bring aid to Chiang, via Burma.

Plans were made for a powerful sea-land-air offensive, which, it was hoped, could be launched at the end of the Burma-Indian season of monsoon storms. But the monsoon ended early in October and still Lord Mountbatten's forces have not got started, and reports from India do not indicate that anything is afoot.

Probably the reason for this failure to adhere to the schedule mapped out lies in changes in the Mediterranean situation. When the Quebec conference met, the Italian fleet had been neutralized and no considerable activity was looked for in that area.

Had this situation continued probably ten or a dozen battleships and at least half that number of aircraft carriers could have been sent to Indian waters and based on Ceylon or Bengal, for a thrust towards Burma.

May Be New Plan
Since Quebec, however, Turkey has given repeated signs that she is considering opening the Dardanelles to Allied shipping. That would cut down the supply route by sea to Russia from 12,000 to about 4,000 miles. But to take advantage of the saving if and when the Turks join the United Nations, a pathway will have to be blasted through the German-held islands that block the mouth of the Aegean sea.

Evidence that the Allies have this in mind is seen in the attempt of British forces to seize the islands of Kos, Leros and Samos. This failed, but a powerful fleet of battleships and carriers might do the job, along the lines of "island-hopping" as now being practiced by Admiral Nimitz's marines in the Central Pacific. But such a naval force might run into heavy air opposition from Nazi bomber-fields on Crete.

The ideal way to take these islands would be by first bombing them into submission by land-based planes from Turkish fields. These are the only fields close enough to do the job. That is one of the reasons for Turkey's great value to the Allies.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the navy department.

ped with extra "belly" fuel tanks to enable them to remain aloft for a longer period.

Twenty-nine American planes were lost in the attack—13 fortresses and 16 of the American fighters. But 35 of the enemy planes were shot to earth—20 by the fortress gunners and 15 by the fighter escorts.

In addition, two more Allied fighters were lost in another operation over Belgium where ten German planes were shot down.

Losses Compared

Thus the total score for Monday shows 35 Allied planes lost as compared with 45 enemy aircraft destroyed in the European theatre of operations.

The American attack on Bremen was the second in four days, the previous attack last Friday being carried out by 500 heavy bombers and 500 escorting fighters of the U. S. Army Eighth Air Force, based in Britain.

The assault upon Belgium was made by American B-26 Marauders, escorted by RAF Spitfires, and was directed against the big Nazi air field at Chievres. RAF Typhoons (attack bombers) simultaneously struck the Nazi air base at Moorsel, in Belgium, and enemy shipping off the French coast near Brest.

Bombing carried out by Mosquito bombers carried out a low-level attack on an unidentified railway center in northwest Germany.

Night Raiders Around

In the wake of the daylight assaults, a number of German-controlled radio stations on the continent went off the air, indicating that Allied night raiders were around. A possible indication of the area in which the night bombers might have ranged can be gauged from the fact that the wireless stations which "blacked out" were located near Berlin.

Bremen radio; the Luxembourg station, Hilversum in Holland and the station at Calais, in France.

Yesterday's Bremen raid was the first in which Nazi fighters with extra fuel tanks were encountered by Allied airmen.

The fortress "Celestial Shen" was attacked six times by different formations of Nazi fighters, swooping down from above right into the fire of the turret gunner, Staff Sgt. Harold J. Carson of Waynesboro, Pa. Carson fired continuously and drove the Nazis off until his guns froze in the high altitude where the temperature was 50 below zero, but by that time the "Celestial Shen" was safe from the enemy. However, the ship narrowly escaped a collision with another fortress on the way back to Britain.

Maj. Francis S. Garbreksi of Oil City, Pa., downed two Messerschmitts, giving him a total bag of seven.

head now extends 12 miles inland and the trickle across the Sangro river has become a torrent. The Eighth Army has not yet linked up its second bridgehead northwest of Archi, where the situation appears at present to be stable.

Defense Line Lost?

EDITOR'S NOTE: A Cairo dispatch quoted front-line correspondents as reporting the whole German winter defense line "may already be considered lost."

A coastal ridge nearly 1,000 feet high runs from northeast of Mozzagrogna three miles north of the Sangro to the southwest anchorage of the army, San Maria and Romagnoli. Its complete occupation would enable Montgomery to dominate the entire coastal road leading to Pescara.

A large number of important strategic heights on the north bank of the Sangro now are in Montgomery's hands and Allied headquarters pointed out that the Eighth Army is continuing its progress in the face of strong Nazi resistance. The Eighth was reported to have taken numerous prisoners.

It required Montgomery's veterans 36 hours of furious fighting from the time they launched their first determined attack Sunday until they finally battled their way into the principal positions of the enemy's main defenses.

Furious Battle

Gen. Eisenhower's communique, while couched in the usual military parlance, gave a hint at the fury of the battle by describing the fighting as "heavy and continuous" in the Eighth Army's battle area.

Preceded by the heaviest artillery and air barrage ever laid down in Italy, the Britons—aided by New Zealand and Indian divisions—advanced northwestward from two bridgeheads across the Sangro river.

After 36 hours of fierce fighting, the Eighth Army's tanks shoved up into important heights beyond their initial footholds.

Russians on the defensive. Even here they crushed a series of Nazi tank and infantry attacks.

Pressing forward on all the other fronts, the Soviets killed at least 2,600 German officers and men. Some 1,500 of these enemy casualties were recorded in the fighting around Cherkassy where the red army dislodged the Nazis from Ruskaya, Polyana and Dublevka.

The Russian forces then advanced to capture the towns of Brody, Kirilovka and Ternovka. In this sector, 17 enemy tanks were destroyed.

In the areas of Chernyovsk and Brusilov, the Russians crashed a series of Nazi tank and infantry attacks. Killed 900 of the enemy and disabling or destroying 26 more German tanks.

Southwest of Dnepropetrovsk, the Russian forces also gained ground within the Dnieper bend. After fierce fighting, they advanced to occupy several uninhabited localities. Eight German armored divisions, including some crack units drawn from Greece, Italy and Norway, important rail junctions west and northwest of Kiev, according to Moscow reports broadcast by the British radio.

The German controlled Paris radio, meanwhile, was heard announcing a new Russian offensive in the eastern Crimea, where the Soviets were said to be closing in on Kerch.

Pushing Forward

A late BBC broadcast heard in New York by NBC reported that the Russians now are only seven miles from Zhiobin and pushing steadily forward despite heavy opposition.

CBS recorded another BBC transmission which quoted a Moscow correspondent as reporting that a heavy snowfall in white Russia has brought out the red army's ski troops for the first of their deadly winter expeditions. The broadcast reported that guerrillas, cooperating with the Russian army, now are fighting a "campaign rather than just a series of actions."

BBC asserted that once again the Germans under-estimated the ability of the Soviet to swing a bridgehead across a vital waterway and as a result the Russians easily spanned the Beresina below Zhiobin.

Their first taste of action on October 13 and 14, 1942, the night after they arrived in Tulagi Harbor, Guadalcanal, when a whole fleet of Japs came down to shell the Marines at Henderson Field. In the mixup, the PT boats were discovered and had to flee, but they did sink a cruiser. From then on, until they were relieved, they engaged in battle with 250 targets.

losses among American forces were due to the possibility that the strength of the Japanese had been underestimated.

The preparations for this operation were the most thoroughgoing I have ever heard of," Knox answered. "It must be thoroughly understood that a large part of the losses were due to the fact that the wind shifted and that caused a lowering of the sea level."

He explained that because of this many of the invasion barges and ships were hung up on reefs where they were exposed to the fire of enemy shore batteries. Then, the invading American troops had to wade more than 500 yards to shore at times neck deep in water while the Japs fired at them.

Knox said that all reports of casualties had not been received and he would not estimate the totals at this time.

BLAME CARBON MONOXIDE

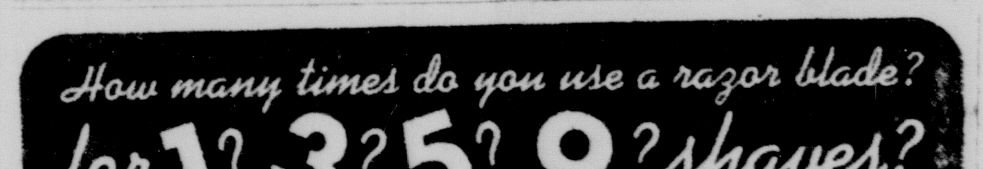

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Carbon monoxide fumes were blamed today for the death of Mrs. Theresa Yurka, 50, whose body was found in the basement of her home, with two hot-water heaters blazing nearby. Firemen tried in vain for two hours to revive her with an inhalator.

How many times do you use a razor blade?

for 1? 3? 5? 9? shaves?

It varies of course with the man, his whiskers, his shaving habits, and his blade. We can't say exactly how many shaves you'll get with a Pal, but you will get more. Reason—Pals are hollow-ground so they're flexible in the razor. You shave lightly, with just a "feather touch." Because you don't "bear down," keen Pal edges last longer—give you more and better shaves per blade. Try a pack today.

A LESSON FROM THE OLD TREE!

If you think all the troubles of the world today are resting on our shoulders, I would say:

Put on your hat and take a walk. It might be anywhere. But while you are out along the way, Stop at the public square.

A lesson there we all can learn. If we will stop and see What nature has in her own way Done to an aged tree.

Time and progress came along. Her roots were in the way. And off they came and not a groan. She thought her limbs would stay.

They changed their minds on second thought. As people often do. And cut the limbs all off her top. And left this lesson for me and you.

We thought that this aged old tree was dead. No life or foliage could we see. She looked more like a lonely poplar. Than what was left of a beautiful tree.

And this the lesson that nature had In store for you and me. Came out in charm and beauty. And again she was a tree.

I wonder if our troubles Were like the troubles of that tree. Could we come back and start again. With a lesson folks could see?

With people rushing hither and thither in these busy times, rushing to their places of work or business, and most of them putting in from 44 to 60 hours a week, in order to buy the necessities of life and maintain the strength of their bodies, yet so many of them really think they do not have time to spend from one to two hours each week in the house of the Lord, trying to keep their souls fed on the bread of life, which is free to every living person.

MACHINERY FOR LIFE SAVING IS BEING PLANNED

United Nations Relief Program Is Being Prepared At Atlantic City Conference

By PHILIP G. REED
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 30.—Machinery for saving life and property on the most stupendous scale in history was being planned today even while the world's worst war of destruction raged to a dramatic climax in Europe.

The plan unfolded in a 77-page table of laws for operating the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

While written in the broadest possible terms, it covered virtually every contingency and represented the compromise view of 44 united and associated nations.

Schedule Organization
Transmitting the words into action, UNRRA executives immediately scheduled organization meetings for the committee on Europe, the committee on the far east, on supplies and on finance.

Meeting of the four key groups before the end of the first session of the full council was considered significant in view of the fast-developing war situation on all fronts. UNRRA must have funds to move. It must have supplies. And in Europe, especially, expectations of a dramatic development were apparent among the delegates, although no direct information of a sudden break had been received here late last night.

This is the next to the last day of the current first session of the UNRRA council which began on November 10.

Open Session
After the committee meetings the only order of business will be an open plenary session of the council tomorrow. Director General Herbert H. Lehman, Chairman Dean Acheson of the council session and No. 1 U. S. delegate, among a number of other dignitaries are expected to survey the work of the meeting and its accomplishments.

The delegates, alternates and technical aides, numbering more than 600, will return to Washington, New York or their various governmental headquarters beginning early Wednesday afternoon.

At yesterday's session, the conference approved a 77-page working bible as manual procedure for the UNRRA. It was compiled only after two weeks work by a special committee whose task it was to condense the verbose resolutions into compact form. Adoption of the manual was unanimous.

Will Seek Probe Of Payroll Padding

YORK, Pa., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Congressman Chester H. Gross of York announced today he would seek an investigation of alleged payroll padding during the construction of the $95,000,000 "big inch" pipe line to the eastern seaboard from the southwestern oil fields.

Gross stated he had discovered that certain workmen had made payment requisitions for idle time and equipment.

The inquiry, Gross said, was prompted by a personal scrutiny of complaints which uncovered manipulations by one crew of workmen attempting to collect $7966 for four months work. He indicated the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be included in the investigation.

willing to have a sales tax. It is the only way to reach the mass of taxpayers."

Demand Criticized

Morgenthau's demand for ten and a half billion dollars additional taxes was criticized by other committee members, who said they would cooperate to boost the House total.

"I don't think there is any committee sentiment for the Treasury plan," said Sen. Walsh (D) Mass. "I do think there is a good chance that the committee might raise taxes by four to five billions."

Sen. George (D) Ga., committee chairman, warned Morgenthau that if taxes are greatly increased the committee will want to consider all sources of revenue.

The Treasury based its case for increased taxation on the argument that people had left sixty-five billion dollars in 1939, after paying personal taxes, and it is estimated they will have left 126 billion in the fiscal year 1944 on the same basis.

Incomes Not Boosted

George combatted this argument however. He said taxes have increased six times over 1939 and that millions of people have not had their income boosted.

"If we look at a national income of 157 billion dollars as a basis of tax, we also have to consider it is an artificial income," said George. "If the war ended in the middle of the year you'd have a badly broke people because these high tax rates are going to stay."

The committee may settle within the next 48 hours the question of whether it will try to greatly boost the House bill. George said he planned to call a special executive meeting to determine policy.

punishment for long. Some of the State department's diplomatic observers aboard are now reporting back the private opinion that Germany will collapse around January or February.

While no peace overtures have yet been received by the American government from any responsible German military or governmental authority, it would not surprise diplomats in Washington if such feelers are forthcoming in the next few months.

There is widespread belief in Washington that the time is coming when the German military high command will get rid of Adolf Hitler one way or another and then seek peace on almost any terms to save what is left of Germany's manpower and potential industrial strength.

It has been computed that approximately 10 million dollars worth of valuable gases swirls around in the air above every acre of land on the earth.

Santa Is Woman; To Many Children In Mountain Areas

Annually Heads Organization Providing Christmas To Thousands Of Children

By JANE COCHRAN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Tradition might picture Santa Claus as chubby, rosy-cheeked and bewiskered, but to 50,000 children in the southern mountains, Santa is a woman. She's Mrs. Browning Smith, a smiling, young-looking grandmother who founded and heads the committee which annually provides the only "Christmas" received by thousands of poverty-stricken southern mountain children. She's chairman of the Santa Claus party committee of the Save the Children Foundation which last year sent 50,000 children a book, a warm garment, toy or doll and candy. The foundation will play "Santa" to an equal number this year.

The gifts will go to children far in the mountains of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, distributed by the field workers in each section. The ambitious program, now in its seventh year, had its beginning in a newspaper story, a discarded doll in an ascan and a walk Mrs. Smith took with her young grandson, Peter. Mrs. Smith had just completed reading a story in which a field worker of the Save the Children Foundation reported that 300 children in her territory wouldn't have so much as an orange for Christmas.

Walking with her grandson, she saw the doll in an ascan, and was struck by the challenging smile on its face.

"Peter," she declared, "if that doll is still there when we return we'll do something for those children."

The doll was, and she adopted it as a mascot and started to work. She called the organization and volunteered to provide for 50 children, then staged a party at which she charged her friends 50 cents and two toys for admission. One hundred and fifty-seven children were provided for that year.

The next year she made 200 her goal and reached 400. The following year her work was established as part of the organization and the number has constantly risen.

Illness has kept Mrs. Smith away from much of the work this year, but her staff and voluntary workers are carrying on for her. She's hopeful to return to active work soon, and such letters as one from Mrs. Gertrude Decker in Barboursville, Ky., inspire this incentive.

"It took three full days to make deliveries in isolated regions," the field worker reported. "A volunteer worker and Santa Claus dressed in regalia worked with me. When we were approaching a cabin, Santa would ring his bell until the children would appear."

"At a little one-room shack a small boy rushed out to the car and said 'Oh, if it ain't Santa Claus! Ma said it was too bad for him to come way down here, but here he is and ain't he pretty!'"

Cases Of Insanity In Capital Drop

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It is now possible to live in Washington with a better than fair chance of remaining sane. Dr. Winfred Overholser, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Federal mental hospital, said today.

Cases of harassed agency and bureau workers, lonely government girls, madadjusted clerks and wives who have become nervous wrecks waiting for their husbands to come home from conferences or bars, have "fallen off substantially" in the past six months, Overholser said.

Overholser, who has been in charge at St. Elizabeth's for six years, said the improved mental state of the capital's population was due in part to improved conditions.

"Things are settling down to a pattern," he said, "although many difficulties are just as real as they were two years ago."

"Some improvement is due to the fact that the worst cases of mental instability have been weeded out by time and circumstances. Many of the potential and actual misfits have gone back home, where it is easier to be a misfit. Many have been rescued by their families. Some had a flash of real insanity and decided the salary lure was not worth the effort."

The biggest factor in improvement, he said, was the provision of psychiatric consultation by the government and by private agencies.

Overholser said it is no longer considered a disgrace to consult a doctor for mental illness. He addressed 500 War Production Board employees on how to keep sane in Washington. He said, and found them all eager to learn.

'Peace Angelus' At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 30.—A "Peace Angelus" has been instituted on the Westminster college campus and is being observed daily in cooperation with a movement started by two young boys of the Ben Avon Presbyterian church.

Each evening at 7 o'clock the victory bell in "Old Main" tower is rung as a signal for one minute of silent prayer. Students and townspeople are asked to stop whatever they are doing when they hear the bell and offer prayers for peace.

Since the idea was started in the Pittsburgh area about November 1, it has spread rapidly to many communities where residents feel that sincere prayer will help to prepare them for the sacrifices that must come with a durable and just peace.

State Cordell Hull returned from his successful Moscow parley with the Soviet and British foreign ministers.

"One of the diplomats to greet Hull when he stepped off the huge Army transport plane was Chinese Ambassador Wei Tsa-Ming, who posed for news pictures with the secretary and greeted him warmly. Strangely enough, Russian and British diplomats were for the most part conspicuously absent.

Hull's arrival was high-lighted by the appearance of his boss, President Roosevelt, who usually confines his personal appearances to high foreign dignitaries. F. D. R.'s presence at Hull's arrival made the Chinese diplomatic strategy even more noticeable.

Sentiment Pays In One Business

Patrons Of Washington 'Hometown' Paper Stands Like Sentimental Touches

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Sentiment pays off to the hilt, jangle, jangle of nickels and dimes in the hometown newspaper concessions that flourish in the nation's capital today.

Conversation and nostalgia are an unbeatable parlay as dished up by the sophisticated sons who spread quicksand before their door so that opportunity will have to keep knocking.

The operations of the most comprehensive hometown newspaper stock in Washington claim no homelands for themselves. They have drifted from city to city peddling their papers as demand dictated.

New York, Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles, they claim, are the big four among cities where hometown papers will hit the jackpot every time.

They chat with their customers and hand out the practiced patter of pitchmen. It goes over big with lonely refugees from small towns who have come to Washington to take war jobs.

The concessionaires soon get to call their customers by name. They know when an unusual period has lapsed between visits and their inquiries are sometimes the only notice taken of an illness in the town where even friends are strangers.

"They don't have to tell me what's on their minds," said one such newsdealer. "That girl that was just in here was looking for a death notice in a Des Moines paper. She didn't tell me—she didn't have to. The guy over there is looking for his picture in a Pottsville paper. He's mentioned in it lots of times." Servicemen are among the best clients of hometown newspaper dealers.

"They want to tell us all about it when they get the paper," a dealer remarked. "They'll tell you all about who got married and who got elected and what's doing with the Ladies Aid society. Sure, we listen to it all and keep it going. Some of the soldiers and sailors haven't had anyone to talk to about the old home town in over a year."

A wide stock of British papers sells well and trade papers of all descriptions find a market. South American papers sell at a fast clip. The Australian Journal and army, navy and marine corps publications are in demand.

CLAIM REFUSED

In an opinion handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham on Monday, the claim of Aaron G. Moore for $300 against the estate of the late David Gamble was refused. The opinion came down after exception had been taken to the final account of the estate. Mr. Moore claimed that he had advanced the late Mr. Gamble $300 for physician's fees in 1934. The court said in the opinion that while it was regrettable if a just claim had to be refused, at the same time the claimant should have taken a note of some other evidence of indebtedness.

TO COST BILLIONS TO PUT FARM LAND 'BACK ON ITS FEET'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation service, estimated it will cost two billion dollars in labor and equipment and 10 years of work to put America's farm land "back on its feet" after the war.

Completion of a 48-state survey of this nation's conservation needs disclosed also that such a program, now under consideration, could effectively use 175,000 men a year for at least four years after the war, Dr. Bennett said.

Basing his conclusions on the survey, Bennett declared it will cost Uncle Sam one billion, 212 millions, dollars for labor and equipment plus 604 million dollars for technical assistance "to treat all crop land in the United States right."

The poplar leaf "whispers" because its stem is flattened from side to side, and so is turned by even the most imperceptible breath of air.

In addition to his farming activities, Mr. Mayberry is a small town editor and business man, and until recently was an official of the state of Kansas. RETURN TO WORK

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(INS).—Several hundred bituminous coal miners employed at the Russellton pit of the Republic Steel Corporation were back at work today after United Mine Workers' local officials reported a "satisfactory agreement" in their pay dispute had been reached.

The Russellton miners walked out last Wednesday together with 500 men from Republic's Indiana mine. The Indiana miners returned to work Friday.

ARMY-NAVY AWARD WON SECOND TIME

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 30.—(INS).—Employees of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, propeller division, at Beaver, today won for the second time the Army-Navy production award for meritorious service on the production front.

"The white star, which the renewal adds to the Army-Navy production award flag, is the symbol of appreciation of our armed forces for their continued and determined effort and patriotism," Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, said in the letter announcing the award.

The Beaver plant, as a single manufacturing unit, is the largest producer of hollow steel aircraft propeller blades in the nation. The Army-Navy "E" pennant was presented to the employees last June 18.

CHINESE EAGER TO DRIVE UPON JAPS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(INS).—A Chinese bishop from Nanking said today that his countrymen are anxious to receive arms and heavy military equipment so that they can take the offensive against the Japs.

The soldiers are trained and ready. Bishop Paul Yu-Pin, ranked by the Japanese as their No. 2 enemy in China after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, said while in Pittsburgh as guest of various Catholic organizations.

The Chinese, however, are not proud of their heroic resistance which has resulted in 1,000,000 Japanese casualties and has kept another million Japs engaged in China. They regard this as a "negative effort," Bishop Yu-Pin said.

WIDELY KNOWN MAN IN PITTSBURGH DIES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(INS).—Funeral services will be held tonight for John A. Anderson, whose colorful 93 years in Pittsburgh included the introduction of the merry-go-round in the city and driving horses that pulled cars over "the hump" on Fifth avenue in the early days.

Anderson died after a brief illness and was active until a few days before his death. He was born in Bridgeville in 1850 but moved with his family to Pittsburgh a few years later. He worked for Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation from the age of 59 until 11 years ago, when he was retired as a foreman.

He is survived by four sons and two daughters, all of the Pittsburgh district.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS).—Henry J. Kaiser, shipbuilding wizard turned airplane producer, assured a House naval committee today that the trouble-ridden Brewster Aeronautical corporation now has a "workable" labor contract under which he can turn out 150 Navy fighters a month by next May.

The new Brewster president, appearing at his own request a second time before the investigators, said he accepted the opinion of his labor relations expert, Harry Morton, that Brewster can operate "satisfactorily and efficiently" under its new contract with the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(INS).—A six-year-old boy and a 51-year-old woman were listed today as automobile accident fatalities in the Pittsburgh district.

Father And Son Are Reunited After 22-Year Search

Notable Family Reunion At East Side Home; Son Is Serving In Navy

After a search of 22 years on the part of the father and of four years by the son, Lawrence Ritchie, of 802 Morton street, this city, and Lawrence Ritchie, Jr., of the navy armed guards, stationed in Brooklyn, N.Y., have been reunited.

For the first time since he was 18 months old his father saw his son, now 24, when young Ritchie came to New Castle, on November 21.

It happened like this. From 1921 up under the name of Larry Vrekedes by his step-father Nick Vrekedes in Detroit. Larry was aware that his real father was alive but did not know his name or where he lived. In 1925 his mother died, but he continued to live with his stepfather.

In 1939 in Chicago Vrekedes applied for a marriage license to wed Irene Hikel of Detroit. To get the license he had to produce a birth certificate. To get the birth certificate he travelled to Warren, O., his birthplace. It was there that he discovered that he was Lawrence Ritchie, Jr. and took his legal name.

Search instigated here with the aid of the police department resulted in the location of Mr. Ritchie and the consequent family reunion.

Lawrence, Jr., has not only found his father but made the acquaintance of his stepmother, a half-brother John, 17, and three half-sisters, Geraldine, 16, Joann, 11 and Carol Lee, 4 months.

Plan Postwar Highway Work

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—(INS).—Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer expanded Pennsylvania's postwar road building program today by awarding a $375,000 contract for the preparation of plans for constructing the Penn-Lincoln parkway in Pittsburgh.

The blue prints will be completed within 10 months, Shroyer said, by Michael Baker, Jr., construction engineer of Pittsburgh. The road will extend 9.5 miles from Wilkinsburg to Grant street. Structures for the project will total $4,500,000.

Shroyer explained the highway would lead directly to the city from the east and would offer "permanent relief for Pittsburgh's tangled traffic situation". The project will be the department's largest single undertaking, he added.

"When the war ends," Shroyer said, "and construction is actually started it not only will provide needed employment but will remove one of the traffic bottlenecks in Pittsburgh."

Chairman Gelder's Term Has Expired

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—(INS).—Chairman Fred T. Gelder of the liquor control board, whose term expired yesterday, continued today to administer the state's $125,000,000 liquor monopoly amid indications that he would be reappointed by Gov. Edward Martin.

There were expectations also that the chief executive might simultaneously make a second appointment to fill a long-standing vacancy on the three-member board with the possibility that Arthur Colegrove, of Corry, Democratic secretary of property and supplies under Gov. George H. E. Eastle, may be named as a minority member. Gelder and W. Searlight Stuart, of Carlisle, the board's present members, are both Republicans.

The appointments may be announced late this afternoon at the governor's news conference.

SAYS COMMITTEE LACKS POWER TO ENFORCE ORDERS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—(INS).—The state anthracite committee lacks the power to enforce the deadline on bootleg coal operations, Secretary of Commerce Floyd Chalfant declared today.

The committee, representing the United Mine Workers of America, legitimate coal operators, state officials and representatives of the bootleg industry, has ordered resistance either to negotiate leases with companies owning the land on which they mine and thus legalize their operations or completely halt their work today.

"It is not up to the anthracite committee to enforce the deadline," said Chalfant, a member of the committee. "It is up to the landowners who can use the regular procedure of going into court for a trespass suit or to seek an injunction."

WRECK NEAR NORRISTOWN

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 30.—(INS).—Nineteen cars of the Greenville extra, a Pennsylvania railroad freight train, were wrecked today when they left the tracks on a Schuylkill river bridge west of Carnestown near Norristown.

No one was reported injured in the derailment, cause of which was not determined.

The 71-car train was moving east on the number one track of the Trenton cutoff at the time of the accident. The crumpled freight cars blocked both of the PRR's bridges at the point, and tore down high tension wires.

Wrecking crews were rushed to the scene from Philadelphia, Lancaster and Trenton.

"WAR END NOT FAR AWAY"

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 30.—(INS).—A German newspaper—the Munich Neueste Nachrichten—today predicted that the end of the war "cannot be far away."

The Nazi publication was quoted by the Zurich correspondent of the Stockholm Svenska Dagbladet, who reported the Munich paper as saying:

"Everyone hopes the fifth winter of the war will be the last, but we must reckon upon the war being intensified daily until the great end comes. That end cannot be far away."

GERMANS THREATEN TO GET SORE NOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS).—If those R.A.F. bomber crews aren't careful, they're going to make the Germans sore at the British.

That's what the Berlin radio claimed today when, in a broadcast heard by NBC, it did a propaganda right-about-face and came up with the assertion that the continuation of "terror raids" will "bring about the most difficult thing in the world."

Know what that is? It's "teaching the Germans to hate."

War Has Caused Population Drop

Decline Of 1.2 Per Cent Shown
By Bureau Of Census For Lawrence County

Although there are more than 5,000 men in the armed forces who can call Lawrence county their home, they don't count right now for census purposes, according to the latest estimate on population given out by the director of the Bureau of Census.

The estimates, figured on the number of registrations for war ration book two, gives the county a population as of March 1, 1943, of 95,706, a decrease of 1,171 over April 1, 1940, or decrease of 1.2 per cent. Merger county, because of the location of Camp Reynolds and its fixed personnel, shows an increase of 16.1 per cent, or a current population of 117,354, against 101,039 in 1940. Beaver county is also given an increase of 4.3 per cent with 163,503 against 156,754 in 1940.

The decrease for Lawrence county is small compared to some counties, Susquehanna showing a loss of 21.8 per cent. Only eight counties show gains.

Charge Five Deaths To Philadelphia Man

Police Say Salesman Shot Four To Death, Then Ended
Own Life

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—A 58-year-old real estate salesman, who police said "nursed a chronic grouch," shot and killed himself in the downtown YMCA Monday after two partners in a firm which employed him, and two women YMCA workers were slain by gunfire.

The shootings listed by the coroner as murders and suicide occurred within three hours in widely separated places in the city.

Inquests will be held next week, the coroner said, into the deaths of William Harrison, the salesman; Samuel Clokey, 58, and David Fink, 47, partners in the real estate firm; and Madeline Chappell, 29, a maid, and Mrs. Nora Harley, 26, assistant secretary, at the YMCA. Clokey was treasurer of famous Baptist Temple here. Harrison and the women were Negroes.

Detective Harry Neil, member of a squad of police who saw Harrison, put the muzzle of a pistol in his mouth and pull the trigger said he learned that the salesman had accused Clokey and Fink on Saturday of withholding a $15 commission due him, although they had his signed receipt acknowledging payment. Neil also said Harrison had waged a year-long feud with Miss Chappell after he once found torn linen had been placed on the bed in his room.

"I'll be back tomorrow evening"

BAG in hand, Bill Gray steps from the platform to the train and he's safely on his way. Tomorrow at 10:21, Bill will reverse that step and be home . . . home to Mary.

We doubt if Bill and Mary actually give much thought to the step he's taking. Because "old 7:37" is taken for granted. It's always there when needed . . . like city hall and main street.

But consider . . . as Bill boards the 7:37 this morning he steps to the front door of the nation . . . for railroads directly connect nearly every city, town and hamlet in the United States.

Right now, 70,000 men and women of the B & O are working for Victory. But as we work for war we think and plan for peace. SWISS DECLARE PEACE FEELERS 'STRETCHED OUT'

Diplomatic Circles Assert Attempt Made Despite Widespread Denials

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Zurich, quoting Swiss diplomatic circles in Bern, said today that "despite both Allied and German denials," the Swiss "definitely have stretched out feelers for the Allies' armistice terms."

German denials of peace feelers are felt due, the Swiss report said, to the Allies' unswerving adherence to the agreed-upon proposition that no cessation of hostilities will be considered without unconditional surrender of the Nazis.

See Official Mission
The Tribune De Geneve said in a dispatch that it was positive "that certain travelers would never have crossed the frontiers (of the Reich) if they were not on an official mission."

There have been numerous reports that Franz Von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, had hurried to Vatican City to request Pope Pius to act as intermediary to present Germany's peace feelers to the Allies. Von Papen, a Catholic, is known as one of Adolf Hitler's shrewdest diplomats.

Monday night George Schroeder, chief of the Nazi overseas news agency, denied flatly that Von Papen had approached the Holy Father on such a mission.

Nazi Denial
"Neither individual Germans nor any German quarter has officially or unofficially approached the Vatican or the Holy Father with a request for peace mediation," Schroeder said. "It is stated that Von Papen is neither in the Vatican nor anywhere else in Italy, and that he has no intention of going there but is on his way back to Turkey."

However, several hours later Reuter heard a broadcast on the Portuguese radio, quoting a dispatch from Vatican City, which said that Von Papen had left Rome by air after having had an audience with Pope Pius and Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state.

Late last night an Axis radio station broadcast a report that Pope Pius was "expected to issue a call for a 48-hour armistice over Christmas," Reuter reported.

There were several other reports stating that His Holiness would, as usual, broadcast a Christmas message, and the Vichy radio, which is Nazi controlled, said the Holy Father would touch on matters "religious and political."

Rotarians Have Business Meeting

Reports Of Various Activities Are Given At Meeting Monday Noon

New Castle Rotary club members had a business meeting Monday noon, when reports were heard from the various committee chairmen on club activities.

A. R. Heizman of the war finance committee in charge of bond and stamp sales, urged members to give war bonds as Christmas presents this year. He also called attention to the shortage of pennies, which requires 10,000 tons of metal annually, and to the need for a recreational program for the youth of the community.

J. Gilbert Casale, local oil salesman, was taken in as a new member and was introduced by Dr. C. C. Green.

Guests of the club included Capt. Edward H. Hinkle of San Diego, Calif., member of a pioneer New Castle family and a nephew of Miss Laura Linton. He is also related to the Harbison and White families. Another was Ted Kuharski of 23 Elmwood avenue, gunner's mate 1-c, who was a member of the famous PT boat squadron X of South Pacific fame.

No Sabotage Is Seen In Blast

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Authorities today denied any rumors of sabotage in the explosion of a powder mill at the E. I. De Nemours & Company plant at nearby Oliphant.

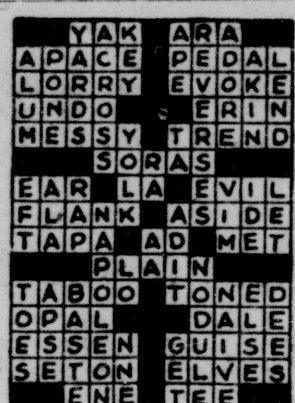

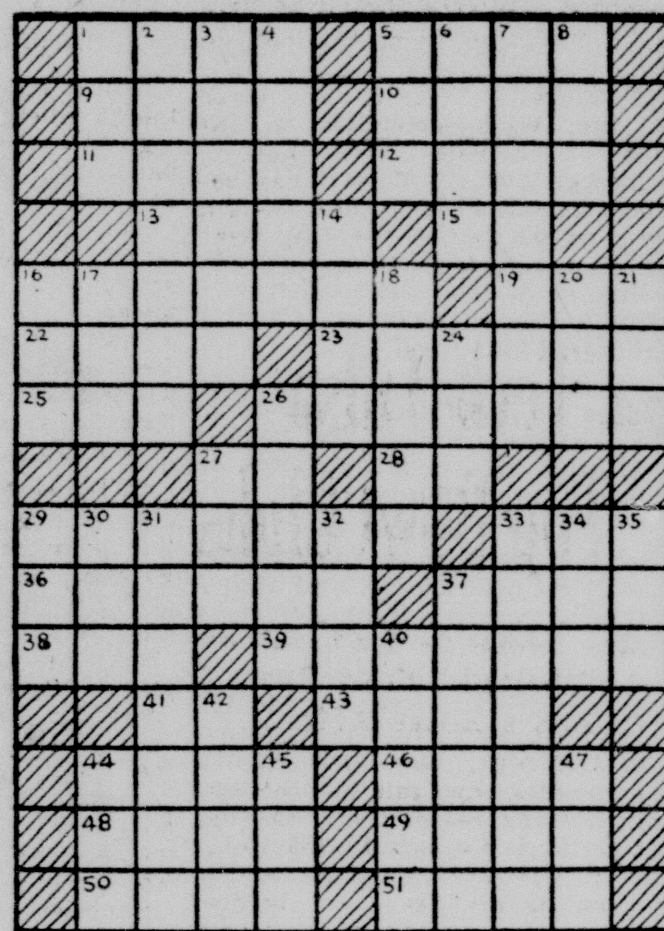

One building, a wheel mill, was completely destroyed. Officials estimated between 12 and 15 kegs of powder went off when the explosion of undetermined origin occurred. The blast was heard more than a mile away, but because the building itself was set off from other structures by at least 150 feet, no one was killed or injured, company officials said.

Police rushed to the scene, but company officials said they did not believe there was any sabotage involved. All the machinery in the building was automatic, they pointed out, and no one was near the scene when the explosion let loose.

Occupied Belgium Target For Bombers

Daylight Raids Are Made By U. S. Bombers In North-West Germany Also

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 30.—American heavy and medium bombers, striking in broad daylight, intensified the Allied onslaught against continental Europe Monday by blasting occupied Belgium and northwestern Germany on the heels of a night R. A. F. stab at the Reich.

The big heavy bombers roared out in the morning sky to attack unspecified objectives in the northwestern reaches of Germany, while B-26 Marauders bombed the Chievres airfield in southwestern Belgium.

The Marauders, accompanied by R. A. F. Spitfires, plastered ground installations with high explosives as they swung low over the Chievres dome, some 10 miles northwest of Mons.

Fighter screens also protected the heavyweights as they pin-pointed assigned objectives by daylight.

HIGHER TAXES ARE OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—A representative of Pennsylvania industry told the senate finance committee today that business men in the Keystone State are worried over the outlook for business after the war.

Clarence L. Turner, vice-chairman of the taxation committee of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, declared in a prepared statement that his organization was opposed to higher corporate tax rates.

"Instead," he asserted, "we should seek to lower the corporate tax rates to the earliest moment possible and should also endeavor to provide tax deductions for funds set aside to meet the urgent demands for increased productive facilities now and after the war."

"If capital is to be available for the urgent needs of postwar production and if reserves are to be accumulated to weather the storms of future adverse conditions in off years, corporate tax rates must not, in our opinion, be increased," he added.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 30.—(INS)—A mysterious illness affecting 200 officers and men taking a special army training course at Rutgers University was under investigation today.

Fifty-three of the victims were sent to nearby Camp Kline for hospital treatment and more than 80 others were placed on a special diet. The water supply was examined as a possible source of infection after investigators decided that the illness was not caused by food.

KEEPING APPOINTMENTS WITH CONVOYS

In a day's combat, an infantry division fires about 300 tons of ammunition . . . 100 37 mm. anti-aircraft guns, 127½ tons . . . and the thousands of army vehicles "passing the ammunition" and other supplies each burn up an average of 10 gallons of gasoline . . .

All of these materials—the guns, the "gas," the ammunition, the vehicles—plus 700,000 other different military items—must come by sea.

A gigantic supply task without parallel in the history of the nation, this job calls for the finest coordination of American railroads with ships.

The railroads must bring everything to ship sidings exactly as needed—and when needed. Any slip, any delay, may hold up a convoy sailing.

So keeping appointments with convoys is one of the most important jobs railroads have these days.

If pushing a "convoy train" through ahead of your passenger train caused you to be a little late for an early-morning business appointment, the Pennsylvania Railroad feels sure you will gladly overlook it. The demands of war must have not only railroad equipment—but the right-of-way!

Bramham, Minor Leagues' Landis, May Be Dethroned

Frank Shaughnessy, International League Prexy, Seeks Position

Minors Rob Winter Baseball Meetings Show; "Big Confab" Starts Wednesday

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—At least one section of New York buzzed with excitement today in anticipation of opening sessions tomorrow of the "big confab" of both major and minor baseball leagues.

The minors stole the show yesterday with the promise of bitter encounters in the gabfest, topped by the proposed dethronement of William G. Bramham as president of the National Association of professional baseball leagues.

Bramham, who has held the post as the minor association chieftain since 1932, has been challenged by Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International League. And, to make matters real interesting, his candidacy for the office has the solid backing of his own league.

Other hot squabbles evident in the minors' annual conclave include two proposed amendments.

The first concerning the proposal of the American Association, calls for a revision of the voting power which would give class AA loops 10 votes, class I-A eight votes down to one vote for class D in place of the present allotment of one vote for each league regardless of rating.

Seek Lower Payments
The second, a brain child out of the International League would abolish stipulated payments by higher-grade leagues to lower for draft of territorial rights, submitting the question of price to be paid to arbitration.

Hottest question, however, will be the demand for the 16 minor leagues which have suspended operation for the duration, for the right to vote at the gathering. All of them already have been notified by the association that they have been disfranchised, despite the fact that they have paid fees for protection of territorial rights.

Among yesterday's major league arrivals were Mel Ott, manager of the Giants and Billy Southworth, of Cardinals fame, who ripped in the bud of rumor that the Cards were about to trade Marty Marion, their crack shortstop.

After meeting separately for two days, the representatives of both major and minor leagues will sit in combined conference Friday before Kenesaw Mountain Landis' staunch and austere czar of the game.

NO LET-UP
Penn State plans a full sports program this winter.

Philly Hopes To Get '44 Army-Navy Tilt

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Hopes were high today in the Quaker City that the 1944 Army-Navy game may be returned to Philadelphia's mammoth municipal stadium.

Authorities at West Point and Annapolis are strongly in favor of bringing the classic service game back to Philadelphia. John Neeson, director of public works, said yesterday.

Final decision upon the location of the game would have to come from Washington. However, the Quaker City holds a contract for seven more Army-Navy contests, when and if war-time travel conditions permit.

Baseball's Status Still Is Undecided

Drafting Of More Than 50 Players Since Series May Have Meaning

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—There seemed to be an element of hidden significance about the situation the other day when Senator Scott Lucas, of Illinois, stood on the floor of the senate in Washington and spoke rather urgently for the continuation of baseball next year.

To a man up a telegraph pole, that did seem a little singular. After all, why come to the defense of something that wasn't ostensibly being threatened? ... or was it?

Anyhow, we set out to contact the senator with the idea of finding out what this might be all about, and at least succeeded in one respect. We contacted the senator.

"There are two factors that must be kept in mind in connection with baseball," he said oracularly, but not too helpfully. "One is that the game, now more than ever before, faces the dual problem of man-power and transportation."

"The other has to do with baseball's ambiguous position. Its status has never been defined. It has not been listed among the essential industries."

Yes, but why did he make the speech? Did it mean that the major leagues, now in process of planning for 1944, might never get to the ball parks with their opening day ceremonies?

"I know of no particular threat along that line, save from baseball's own problems," was the reply. "I've already mentioned these. They must be solved, and there's no time like the present. That's why I made the speech."

"No one asked me to do it. I'm just an old ball player who believes the game is contributing a great deal to the healthy situation that endures behind the fighting lines."

Immunity Over?
It was hardly hinted that hereafter baseball, which had enjoyed a decree of immunity from military induction during the run of the season, might find itself suddenly set upon by the draft board.

In fact, upward of 50 major leaguers have been sucked into the voracious maw of the war machine in the month and a half since the close of the world series. Roughly speaking, one-quarter of the off season has been consumed. At this rate, 200 major leaguers, who were in uniform at the close of the last season, will be wearing the other kind of uniform before the opening, if any, of the next.

Was this the impelling urge behind Senator Lucas' appeal in congress for a survival of the game?

Penn-F. And M. State's Top Teams

Quakers Ivy Loop Champs; Pitt, Temple Gridders Post Poor Records

(International News Service)
Pennsylvania and Franklin & Marshall stood out today as the outstanding teams in state collegiate football this year as the curtain was rung down on another gridiron season.

The Penn team, despite two losses and a tie, emerged as one of the outstanding football aggregations in the nation among the big universities, while F. & M. was easily foremost in the state among the smaller colleges, losing only one game.

With both teams playing nine-game schedules, Pennsylvania lost to Navy and North Carolina, tied with Army and defeated Princeton, Yale, Dartmouth, Lakehurst, Columbia and Cornell. It ran up 248 points to its opponents 88 and garnered the Ivy League championship for the fourth successive year.

The Franklin & Marshall diplomats from Lancaster narrowly missed national honors, their unbeaten and untied record being blemished when they were upset in their final game in a return match with Bucknell, whom they had previously beaten.

Lafayette Third
Runner-up to Pennsylvania and F. & M. was Lafayette, the boys from Easton losing only one game, to Rutgers, whom they subsequently defeated in a return match. However, the Leopards played only five games, closing their season Saturday with a 58-0 victory over Lehigh.

Penn State had only a fair season, winning five, losing three and tying one. All its losses were to intercollegiate rivals.

Villanova and Swarthmore each closed their seasons with five wins and three losses, while Bucknell won six games but lost four.

Once-mighty Pitt had an unfortunate season, winning only three of its eight games, with the opponents scoring 180 to its 114 points. Temple did even worse, winning its first two games and losing the remaining six on its schedule.

The season's cellar champs were Lehigh and Carnegie Tech. Neither won a game.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(INS)—McKeesport's Brown Bomber, Mose Brown, who rose rapidly to fistic heights and then dropped out of sight, was set today for a ring comeback with Jack O'Sullivan, 190-pound Irish lad from Toronto, in a six rounder.

The slugging Negro boy will make his first start sometimes on the Fritz Zivic-Ossie Harris show in Pittsburgh Dec. 13. Brown has become a full-fledged heavyweight cow and will enter the ring near the 185-pound mark for his test with O'Sullivan.

Sugar Classic Foes Listed As Stronger Than Pasadena's Roses Affair

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—The nation's bowl games, unofficial stamp of the season's end, will be closing down soon on a great football year. It is curious that 80 per cent. of the bowl teams will be distinctly inferior to most of the teams that have been chilling the nation with thrills and spills since Sept. 25.

Although full lists of opponents in all the bowls have not yet been drawn up, Southern California will face Washington in the Rose Bowl.

Georgia Tech and Tulsa will meet in the Sugar Bowl, Texas A. & M. and L. S. U. face off in the Orange Bowl; Texas will face Randolph Field in the Cotton Bowl and University of New Mexico will meet an unannounced team in the Sun Bowl.

Of all the bowl games, the Georgia Tech-Tulsa fray ought to be the best. Both are fast, tough and indomitable. Texas should take Randolph Field cadets although the flyers have had a fine season.

The last glimpse of the regular intercollegiate football season was seen last Saturday when Army was trounced by Navy, 13 to 0, and Notre Dame failed an unbeaten 10-game try in the last thirty seconds of play in being defeated by Great Lakes, 19 to 14.

News Of Tom Harmon's Safety Greeted By Nation

Famous Grid Star, Missing Since Oct. 30, Saved In China

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 30.—(INS)—The nation was thrilled again today by the almost incredible news that Tom Harmon, All-American halfback at the University of Michigan in 1939 and 1940, miraculously had been saved from death a second time.

None was so overjoyed as his parents in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Harmon, who received the tidings of the brilliant army flyer's safety from the War Department in Washington.

Tommy had been reported missing after a dive bombing attack on Kiang, in Japanese occupied China, last October 30 when four U. S. Lightning fighter planes were shot down in a battle with Jap Zeros.

"I can't tell you how happy I am," said Mrs. Harmon, his mother, when she was notified his charmed life had saved him again. "I am so thrilled by the news I can hardly talk."

Tom's 71-year-old father declared: "Hard To Believe"

"I can hardly believe it, but it's true, it's true. Every day we have been hoping and praying that he still was alive, and now we know he is."

"We never gave up hope, although as time went on and we heard nothing I'll admit that we got a little discouraged. But it turned out just as it did that other time."

"That other time" was last April when Tommy and his bomber crew crashed during a rain and wind storm in a South American jungle. All attempted to bail out, but only Tom was saved and he was not heard from for days until he had cut his way through the dense jungle and finally had encountered natives.

The bodies of two of his companions were found in the burned wreckage of the bomber. The other three never were found and were listed officially as missing.

Harmon later was assigned to the

The joy of Tom's parents was shared today by other relatives in Ann Arbor and Detroit and by his old coach, Fritz Crisler of the University of Michigan.

Crisler, like Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, had expressed confidence when Tom was reported missing in action that somehow, some way, he eventually would be found alive.

But, when first news came that the former grid hero was safe, he wanted to make sure it was true, so he called up Washington and verified it.

"If there was any way of saving himself, I knew Tom would do it," Crisler said.

BO

BY MESEALL

There has always been the "shoplifter" and there probably always will be a few who just can't break away from the habit. Today however more and more "shoplifters" are appearing. New faces, new types of faces, not the type that ordinarily turn to crime but because of the rationing system the temptation to eat this and that has become uppermost in some minds. We would like to call attention to the fact that stealing ration foods or items today carries the same punishment that you would receive if you molested the United States Mail. That being a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $10,000 fine. So the next time your fingers get itchy and sort of "shoplift" some little item that is rationed think what would happen if you were caught. . . and smarter people than you have been caught.

WANTED

If you are going to buy a Christmas tree, really there is no reason why you shouldn't have some sort of tree. . . the men who are away would want to be thinking about their loved ones sitting around a gay tree on Christmas eve. . . memories mean a lot to a fellow when he is away. . . but if you are going to have a tree you better get out and buy it now. . . don't wait until the last moment as we always do and then have to take something that looks like it has been used a few years. . . Just a friendly reminder, you'll do as you please anyhow.

How about the letters to the men in army, navy and marine stations. . . yes the young ladies who are serving in these branches. . . are you keeping them going telling of the little interesting things that happen around town. . . Letters mean more than anything else. . . make 'em interesting.

Some one who would like to give a little dog away and make a small boy happy this Christmas could call 1937. . . This lad has been saving his pennies to buy a dog but it is thought that maybe someone would like to give a small dog away. What better home could you find for a dog than in the arms of a boy who craves a dog. . . Let them grow up together. . . man and his best friend. Thanks for helping.
